Herald: In the 20th year of the Society, Hugh and Merewyn, second Viceroy and Vicerine of Lochac, saw that the artisans of the Crown Principality were worthy of recognition, and thus they created the Order of the Roman Lilies, that the flowering of the arts and sciences could be celebrated and honoured.

In the Kingdom of Lochac, we continue this tradition, and reward the skill and dedication of our artisans with the Order of the Star and Lily. With this award we link the best of our artisans with all who have come before them, for every person so honoured had the seeds of their knowledge planted by those who came before, and in the blossoming of their skill, they inspire others to follow them. Each link in this chain strengthens the Kingdom, and so we ask [Name] to join their number.

Crown: Speak of the recipient's deeds and bestow the token of the order.
