Herald: It is told in the legends that at the ends of the World there stands a tree, upon which there are apples of gold. The Gods valued these more than all the treasures of the earth, and so set a great winged serpent to guard it.

Thus it may be said of Lochac, that though we are far from the rest of the Known World, within our shores, and in our people, is that which is more precious than any gold. As such, the Crown calls upon many in the Kingdom to take up arms of various kind, to stand with courage and honour, and to be ready to defend Lochac when needed. To recognise those of great skill, great service, great courage and great honour, in all fields Martial, in the 44th year of the Society, the Crown of Lochac created the Order of the Red Wyvern.

And with that in mind, Their Majesties invite [Name] to join that company.

Recipient comes forward and kneels. Crown may speaks as to the recipient's deeds.
