With this letter is a new history sheet that must be supplied with every submission and resubmission, there have been some major changes to this from the previous history sheet as there proved to be some misunderstanding in the interpretation of some of the questions asked. Therefore please destroy all copies of all previous sheets and hand this one out instead.

The College of Heraldry has adopted a procedure for measuring the complexity of heraldic devices, the method for this is included with these minutes. Also enclosed is an article from this month's Crown Prints (Monthly magazine of Caid).
